Welcome to the 2020 Legislative Bulletin!
As required by the New Hampshire Constitution, the House and Senate will both convene on the Wednesday following the first Tuesday in January, which in 2020 is January 8. As of this writing, approximately 600 new bills have been released for the new legislative session, with more to come. We anticipate that committee hearings will begin the week of January 13.

This first issue of the Legislative Bulletin contains a partial list of the bills of municipal interest that have been released so far (in the interest of space, we have cut off the list at HB 1600---more will follow in the next issue) and a preview of some of the big issues we anticipate in 2020. Regular Friday publication of the Legislative Bulletin will begin on January 3 and continue through the end of the legislative session. We will post the Bulletin on the NHMA website every Friday afternoon and send an electronic notice that it’s been posted to as many members as we can. We would love to reduce our photocopying and postage costs (ultimately paid by our members!), so if you are still receiving the Bulletin by U.S. mail and would prefer to get it electronically instead, please let us know.

For a complete list of all bills that have been released so far, go to the legislature’s website (www.gencourt.state.nh.us). On the left side of the page, click on “Advanced Bill Search.” On the next page, in the “Session Year” field, change 2019 to 2020. Leave all other fields empty, and click on “Submit.” This will give you a complete list of 2020 bills. (Eventually the box on the home page that says “Find a 2019 Bill” should be changed to 2020, making the process a bit easier.)

The legislative website is an excellent resource for other information as well, providing easy and quick access to information about committees, bills, session days, and hearings. Check the site and explore all the information available to you.

As always, if you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact the Government Affairs staff at governmentaffairs@nhmunicipal.org or 1-800-852-3358.

A New Look
You may notice that this Bulletin looks a little different from past publications. We are using new software that results in a slightly different look. We believe we have worked out all the kinks, but please let us know if you have any problems receiving, reading, or printing the Bulletin.
Land Use, Housing Issues Take Center Stage

We don’t need to tell anyone that New Hampshire is experiencing a crisis in housing availability and affordability, as is much of the country. Several 2020 bills seek to mitigate this problem. Two bills that have already received significant attention are HB 1629 and HB 1632, which the governor has promoted and which have bipartisan support. HB 1629 in particular will be controversial, as it requires all planning board and zoning board members to complete a training course in land use law and pass a test before they may vote on any application. It also imposes new limits on the time frames for planning and zoning boards to make decisions on applications.

NHMA has had initial discussions about these bills with the governor’s office and with legislators. Needless to say, we have some concerns, but we also recognize that the housing crisis is real and that municipalities need to be part of the solution, not part of the problem. We hope to be able to work with the interested parties to advance legislation that will make some progress on the problem without imposing unnecessary mandates on municipalities.

Another bill (not yet released) would require municipalities to allow “tiny houses” in all residential districts, and we have heard rumors of another that would limit or eliminate municipal authority to regulate short-term rentals. We will oppose both of those. There also will be efforts to repeal the housing appeals board law, which was enacted last year but has not yet taken effect. NHMA did not take a position on that legislation last year, but we are keeping options open for the coming year in light of the significant opposition we heard from our members very late in the process.

Please watch for these bills and check these pages for further information. And please let us know your opinions as early as possible. HB 1629 and HB 1632 are likely to have hearings early in January.

Other Issues Too Numerous to Count

There will be plenty of other matters for municipal officials to contemplate in 2020. For example:

We expect that concerns about PFAS in drinking water will continue to get attention in 2020. There are several bills addressing the issue, including one supported by NHMA that would provide state funding for monitoring and treatment of public water supplies. As always, there are numerous bills—some good, some less so—seeking to amend the Right-to-Know Law, and several dealing with warrant articles and town budgets, including default budgets. There are several labor and employment bills that would impose new limits on municipal hiring discretion, and there are proposed property tax exemptions for just about everyone. There are even a few bills that we like! We will provide information on as many of these as possible in the coming weeks and months.

Retained and Re-Referred Bills

As always in the second year of a legislative term, there are a number of bills held over from last year, either “retained” in the House or “re-referred” in the Senate. The process is the same in either case: in the body that held onto the bill, the responsible committee was required to meet and make a recommendation on the bill by November. The bill then goes to the House or Senate floor with that recommendation at the beginning of January.

This means the House and Senate will be acting on many retained and re-referred bills on January 8 (and January 9, at least in the House). If the House passes a retained House bill, the bill will then go to the Senate for hearing later in the 2020 session. If the House passes a retained Senate bill, at that point it will have passed both chambers, so there will be no further hearing. It will simply go back to the Senate (if the House has amended it) to concur or request a committee of conference. The same process applies to bills re-referred in the Senate. In short, if you are interested in a retained or re-referred bill and want to get your comments to legislators, you need to act before January 8, because that may be your last chance for input.
