About the program:

The number of laws impacting the relationship between public sector employers and their employees can appear overwhelming. NHMA and Drummond Woodsum's Labor and Employment Law Group have come together to provide a full day seminar addressing the most pressing labor and employment issues impacting New Hampshire public employers. The goal of the program is provide town, city and county leaders with practical knowledge and skills they need to handle the unique employment challenges facing public employers.

Topics covered will include:

- Workplace discrimination and harassment
- Wage and hour law compliance
- Effective approaches to addressing employee misconduct
- Strategies for managing employee leave requests and disability accommodations
- Building workable relations with labor unions

Who should attend?

This program is recommended for elected officials, city and town managers, town administrators, human resource directors, department heads, and other municipal officials with supervisory responsibilities. If you hire, manage, or supervise employees in your city, town, or county, join us to enhance your understanding of these laws and how they impact your work.
